

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an acoustic liner (1) comprising a layer (3) of a metallic foam. The acoustic liner is especially adapted for use in a hot stream environment such as the outlet of an aircraft engine. The invention also relates to the manufacture of such acoustic liner.